

There was a day when freedom's light seemed very far away.

There was a day that looked like night;

We dreamed of yesterday.

But even when the day is dark and rainbows hard to see,

Heroes walk among us and people still live free,

We still live free.

Chorus:

We remember the day we all stood strong.

We remember when we were one in song.

We Remember—Remember

There was a day when Americans chose to take a stand.

There was a day when the best of friends offered us their hand.

The world can still be beautiful but even when it's gray,

The sun will shine upon us and warm our tears away.

And so we say.
